Directions:

1. Choose 10 words from your vocabulary list. Carefully write the words in random boxes and be sure to spell each word correctly.
2. Find a partner to play with but do not let your partner see your paper. Take turns guessing a coordinate pair, such as "G, 6".
3. If it is a miss (a square without a word in it), say "Miss" and each player must then "X" out that space in the grid.
4. If it is a hit (a square with a vocabulary word in it), say "hit". Then call out the word and have your partner write it on his or her grid in the box that was called and have him/her spell the word aloud and explain the definition. If he/she defines the word correctly, that ship is sunk and each player circles the word on the grid. If the definition is incorrect, the ship is only hit. The player must try on another turn to sink the ship by giving the correct definition of the word.
5. The game ends when all the words have been correctly defined, or sunk.
